Our bats were quiet early, but once we settled in, the intensity picked up. We were making solid contact, stringing together quality at-bats, putting pressure on GFW's defense. Mixing in bunts helped us manufacture momentum for a strong finish.

Natalie delivered a strong performance in the circle, and by making routine plays behind her, we were able to contain GFW's bats and keep the momentum.

When we pair clean, dependable, defense behind our pitchers that is the type of softball we are striving for. Keep the innings short, contain momentum allows our pitchers to attach batters without hesitation.
